

Credit Collections & AR Process Improvement Services

Lockhart Leadership applies process and industry expertise to settle past due accounts and improve your administration

Lockhart has found that the ability to collect on past due accounts relies on a focused & sustained effort. We have been highly successful in helping our clients avoid the costly write-offs associated with bad debt. As an additional side benefit, our quality management experience enables us to review your administrative processes and identify opportunities for corrective and preventative action which result in streamlined and effective cash flow.

Typical AR/ Collections Process — Most collections problems originate early in the Order taking, Billing or Receivables processes. In addition to helping you collect, current-past due accounts, we can assess your Administrative processes from end-to-end and make recommendations to improve your order/ billing processes, thereby avoiding future Accounts Receivable problems. This translates into higher return on your investments in Administration and enhances productivity for your management team and can therefore lead to significant increases in business performance.
